out students (labourers) well trained and experienced to work in such capacities as demonstration, maistries etc., in the Agricultural Department. They are also being occasionally entertained by other departments.

These institutions also attract the pupils of the several villages round about besides the pupils of farm labourers. I consider these schools are useful and I, therefore, recommend the continuance of these institutions during 1950-51.

3. At Samalkot, as already stated, the strength of the school had to be restricted to 25 students only in spite of a larger number of applications received fro admission. The increase of the strength from 25 to 50 may please be sanctioned by the Government. If the increase in strength to 50 students is sanctioned, an additional teacher will be necessary for this school.

At present all the schools have one one teach each, excepting the school at Palur to which an additional teacher was sanctioned in G.O. Ms. 1338 Development dated 17--3--1948.

4. The financial implications of my present proposal to continue all the existing five posts of teachers during 1950-51 and for anadditional post of a teacher at Samalkot to cope up withthe preposal increase in strength are given in the annexure.
